Product Release Notification: iLegislate for iPad v. 2.0

We are pleased to announce our latest upgrade to iLegislate for iPad. iLegislate version 2.0 includes a new PDF viewer that provides additional annotation tools with a greater level of customization. You'll still be able to highlight, underline, draw, add notes, and bookmark pages, and you can also use image annotations, audio notes, stamps, signatures, and more.

If you do not have automatic updates enabled on your iPad, follow these steps to upgrade to version 2.0:

1. From your iPad, open the App Store.
2. Tap Updates in the bottom menu.
3. Tap the Update button to the right of the iLegislate line. (If you do not see iLegislate listed here, you most likely have auto updates enabled.)

What's New?

Annotation Toolbar

The new toolbar gives you more markup options, including photos and sound recordings, stamps, signatures, and shapes. You can save annotations that you've customized so you can quickly and easily use them again. You can also change the toolbar's location to suit your preference.

Ink Annotations

This is your freeform drawing tool for PDF documents. The color, opacity, and width are customizable, and the toolbar includes two pen settings so you can customize different styles and quickly switch between the two.

Outline and Bookmarks

The new viewer features a fast and accurate outline parser that deals with all the custom variants and PDF action types. The Outline popup allows quick access to bookmarks and annotations.

Note Annotations

Note annotations enable adding longer comments to documents, and you can select a custom shape and color for the note through the custom note inspector.

Annotation Inspector

The annotation inspector gives you control over how the annotations look, from border and fill colors to opacity and font format.

Smart Zoom

Double-tapping a block of text will cause the app to perform a smart page content analysis and zoom instantly to the selected region.
